

The JSME Guidelines of Technical Papers and Presentations related to Military Technologies

The JSME Guidelines of Technical Papers and Presentations related to Military Technologies provides the following articles;

1. We, JSME, do not accept any technical papers and presentations directly related to military technologies, such as weaponry itself.

2. We, JSME, make a case-by-case judgment on the acceptance of technical papers and presentations at the Transactions Editorial Committee, committees of technical conferences and others, from the point of view of whether the technologies contribute to the public welfare or not, if the technical papers and presentations do not come under the above Article 1.

However, the above committees should take counsel with the competent Executive Board, if they hesitate to make a judgment.

Approved by the JSME Executive Board on December 8, 2015

The Japan Society of Mechanical Engineers